

Dear Sirs,

we are pleased to introduce and welcome our new colleague Mr. Kai Koppenburg here at SatService GmbH. Mr. Koppenburg is a graduated electrical engineer, specialized in RF-technologies. He started his career in a scientific institute at the University of Karlsruhe and continued working for a professional manufacturer of satellite communications equipment, first as development engineer and since 2007 as sales director. Therefore, Mr. Kai Koppenburg is very familiar with the SatCom Market.

With this newly created position as Sales Director Mr. Koppenburg is managing the whole sales activities of SatService GmbH. This development reflects the continuous company growth over the last years and improves SatService GmbH organization significantly for the benefit of our customers.

This enhancement will result in a more individual support of our already existing customers and partners in Germany as well as abroad and also in developing new sales channels. This will guarantee an efficient supply of our target markets with the high quality products and services of SatService GmbH.

In order to make this new structure easily accessible for you, our sales department is now reachable via the main email address sales@satservicegmbh.de. Certainly, also the already well-known contact persons will still assist and support you as usual.

We wish our new colleague Kai Koppenburg a pleasant start! We are looking forward to a trustful and successful cooperation.

Yours sincerely,
Michael Ulbricht
SatService GmbH
